1. Do you administer the Ohio Achievement Assessments in any grade K-8?

2. Do you administer another kind of Achievement test in your school, in grades K-8?

3. Do you give more than one kind of test to your K-8 students?

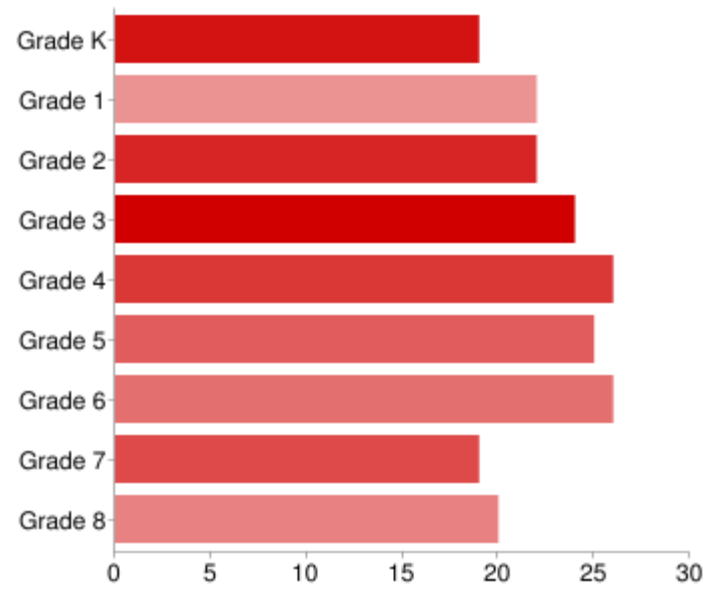

We give Stanford to k- 8 and OAA also to 3-8th grades Edchoice do the required OAA testing and the Stanford

Achievement Test admissions testing is the Woodcock Johnson which gives a comparative subtest to the SAT. Occassionally we administer the TOLD language test which also gives a comparable to the Otis-lenin as well as subtests for expressive and receptive language We ONLY give the OAA to EdChoice students, a handful of students. No. We can not afford to provide another type of testing. No, there are too many negatives with the OAA that the public schools cannot escape. For all of the posit ...

4. Comments about types of testing.

The OAA required testing is in 3-8 grades. We give the Otis-Lenin every other year beginning in first grade. We do have the Bible assessment computed but we do not send those scores home because we use them to validate basic knowledge due to our curriculum being more application than survey information. We formerly gave the SAT, but dropped it for the OAA. We give Stanford to grades 1-7 and all required OAA tests Serch and Teach Test given to Kindergarten and new first grade students to try to identify if there are any deficit areas or possible learning disabilities. CHCS did a test in 2009-2010 ...
